Εφημερίδες – Πώς τυπώνονται

- Οι εφημερίδες τυπώνονται κυρίως με τη μέθοδο offset (λιθογραφία)
- Οι μηχανές offset χωρίζονται σε δύο κύριες κατηγορίες:
  - Επίπεδες ή μηχανές φύλλου: Το τυπωμένο προϊόν εξάγεται σε φύλλα, καθώς επίσης τροφοδοτείται και με φύλλα. Το κάθε φύλλο τυπώνεται μόνο του.
  - Κυλινδρικές offset: Η τροφοδοσία τους γίνεται από ένα συνεχές χαρτί σε ρολό. Το εξαγόμενο προϊόν μπορεί να είναι κομμένα φύλλα ή διπλωμένα τυπογραφικά ή ενιαίο έντυπο π.χ. εφημερίδα.

Λιθογραφία όφσετ (offset)

- Η εκτυπωτική πλάκα είναι μεταλλική και επίπεδη (επιπεδοτυπία)
- Είναι μέθοδος έμμεσης εκτύπωσης, δηλαδή το θέμα μεταφέρεται από τη μεταλλική εκτυπωτική πλάκα (τσίγκος) στον ελαστικό τάπητα - καουτσούκ και από εκεί με την άσκηση πίεσης (καζάνι) στο εκτυπωτικό υπόστρωμα.
- Η εκτύπωση βασίζεται στην αρχή απώθησης νερού και λιπαρών ουσιών
  - Οι περιοχές που δεν έχουν θέμα είναι υδρόφιλες και υγραίνονται από ειδικά υδατικά διαλύματα, ώστε να μην προσφύεται σε αυτές το λιπαρό μελάνι.
  - Οι περιοχές που έχουν θέμα είναι λιπόφιλες και σε αυτές προσφύεται το λιπαρό μελάνι.

Ψηφιακή εκτύπωση

- Τα τελευταία χρόνια ορισμένες εφημερίδες εκτυπώνονται ψηφιακά.
- Δεν χρησιμοποιείται εκτυπωτική πλάκα, αλλά η εκτύπωση γίνεται απευθείας από τα ψηφιακά δεδομένα (υπολογιστή) στο υπόστρωμα
- Κύριες μέθοδοι:
  - Έκχυση μελάνης από απόσταση - Inkjet
  - Ηλεκτροφωτογραφική μέθοδος - Toner ή Electroink, Laser
  - Θερμική μεταφορά - Thermal printing

Ψηφιακή εκτύπωση

➤ Πλεονεκτήματα της ψηφιακής εκτύπωσης εφημερίδων:

- Η ψηφιακή εκτύπωση ταιριάζει σε εξατομικευμένες εκδόσεις
- Σε κάθε σελίδα μπορεί να τυπωθεί μεταβλητό περιεχόμενο
- Η ροή εργασίας απλοποιείται και επιταχύνεται πολύ
- Δεν χρειάζονται εκτυπωτικές πλάκες και είναι δυνατές αλλαγές της τελευταίας στιγμής
- Οι τελευταίες ειδήσεις μπορούν να εκδοθούν σχεδόν αμέσως
- Καθυστερημένες διαφημίσεις, αλλαγές, αγγελίες κ.λπ.
μπορούν να γίνουν δεκτές μέχρι την ώρα της εκτύπωσης
- Ελαχιστοποιείται το οικολογικό αποτύπωμα
- Χαμηλότερο κόστος εφοδιασμού, μεταφορών, χώρων

- Κοινό-στόχος: Ευρύ κοινό ή εξειδικευμένη έκδοση;
- Κόστος εκτύπωσης: Οι μεγαλύτερες μορφές γενικά συνεπάγονται υψηλότερο κόστος.
- Διανομή και μεταφορά: Πώς θα διανέμεται και θα καταναλώνεται η εφημερίδα;
- Αισθητικές προτιμήσεις: Σύγχρονη ή πιο παραδοσιακή εικόνα;
- Ανταγωνιστικό τοπίο: Η διάκριση στην αγορά μερικές φορές μπορεί να επιτευχθεί επιλέγοντας διαφορετική μορφή.

PRICES CLIMB 0.4% BUT RATE OF RISE APPEARS TO SLOW

Gain in the Consumer Index for March Lags Behind the 4 Previous Months

INCREASE IS STEEP HERE

Medical Care and Mortgage Interest Are the Major Elements in Changes

By EDWIN L. DALE JR.
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 22—Consumer prices rose strongly again in March but there were signs that the pace of inflation was slowing, the Labor Department reported today.

After adjustment of the data to reflect normal seasonal changes, the Consumer Price Index rose four-tenths of 1 percent in March, less than the five-tenths rise in February and the six-tenths rate of the three months before that.

What is more, one-quarter of the entire March increase in the index was accounted for by a somewhat artificial recording of an increase in Veterans Administration mortgage interest rates. The ceiling on these rates was recently raised by the Government, but the cost to the borrower was not increased by as much as the face amount of the interest.

PNOMPENH, Cambodia, April 22—An atmosphere of heightening national emergency is overtaking Cambodia.

It is due to evidence that the Cambodian Army is unable to turn back the Vietnamese Communist forces, which at one point are within 15 miles of the capital, and to the limited response to Premier Lon Nol's appeal to all nations for arms aid.

The military authorities closed the Pnompenh airport this evening to all civilian traffic.

According to military sources, it is to remain closed until tomorrow in connection with an important military operation. The operation is supposedly intended to dislodge the North Vietnamese and Vietcong forces from the district capital of Saang, about 15 miles south of here.

Candidate in antisemitism row backed by Starmer

Chris Smyth Whitehall Editor

The Labour Party is sticking with a parliamentary candidate who claimed that Israel deliberately allowed the Hamas terrorist attacks of October 7 to give it "the green light" to invade Gaza. Azhar Ali, who will defend a majority of 9,668 in the Rochdale by-election this month, was forced to apologise after he was recorded telling a local Labour Party meeting that Israel had chosen to remove its border guards after being given warning of the attack, in which 1,200 people were killed.

Sir Keir Starmer is facing questions over his decision to stick by Ali in a new test of his claim to have rooted out antisemitism after the Jeremy Corbyn era. The Labour leader is said to have accepted that Ali's immediate apology shows he was not motivated by prejudice, and the party has signalled that it will continue to campaign for him and allow him to take the whip if elected. ## Flawed tests 'mean electric cars can't travel as far as claimed'

Ben Clatworthy Transport Correspondent

Electric cars can travel significantly less far on a single charge than is often claimed, because official tests are flawed, drivers have been warned. Steve Huntingford, the editor of What Car? magazine, said official laboratory tests had "inadequacies" and needed to be overhauled so that drivers have "realistic information and won't be left disappointed" after buying an electric vehicle (EV). In real-world winter conditions, EV ranges have been found to fall by more than a third compared with official test results. Car manufacturers are legally required to lab-test the range of new electric cars under the worldwide harmonised light vehicle test procedure (WLTP). It measures battery life travelling at an average speed of 28.5 mph in 23°C summer temperatures from 100 per cent charge to zero. "When they test the cars it's quite warm, which is good for the battery," Huntingford said. "It's also quite a weak test that doesn't ask that much of the car. They don't drive at a particularly high speed and they accelerate very slowly. It's the kind of acceleration that would get you in trouble if you drive that way on the road." Huntingford and his team now regularly test the most popular EVs in a real-world driving environment during summer and winter. They have found there is, on average, an 18 per cent difference in battery life between the seasons, with charge draining faster in colder temperatures. "What it highlights is the inadequacies of the official test," Huntingford said. "Manufacturers are not coming people — they have no choice but to use those figures. It shows how poor the test is and how unrepresentative it is of real-world conditions." In the What Car? test, vehicles were Continued on page 2

Johnson to join election campaign in red wall

Tories hope ex-PM can win over 2019 voters

Steven Swinford Political Editor

Boris Johnson is expected to campaign for the Conservatives in red wall seats before the general election after a thawing in relations with Rishi Sunak. The former prime minister is likely to be deployed in the north of England and the Midlands as the Tories seek to win back the voters who helped Johnson to an 80-seat majority in 2019. Johnson accused Sunak of betrayal after he was forced from Downing Street in 2022 and the two men fell out further last year over Johnson's resignation honours list. Relations have improved significantly, however, after talks between Johnson's team and No 10. Last month Sunak and Johnson issued a joint statement on the anniversary of Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Johnson allies and senior government sources confirmed that the former prime minister was expected to play a significant role in the general election campaign. They said he was likely to visit marginal constituencies, make speeches and appear on leaflets. "If there is a way he can help that is right for him and for the party he will," a source familiar with Johnson's thinking said. "Sunak will of course be front and centre but he [Johnson] always wanted to take the fight to Sir Keir Starmer. Just as he has always supported the Conservative Party he will do so now."

A government source said, "Don't expect Boris to appear on stage with Rishi — that's not going to happen — but he is up for it. The relationship is in a fairly good place."

Sunak suffered a blow yesterday after Lee Anderson, a former deputy chairman of the Conservative Party, defected to Reform UK. Anderson was one of the best-known red wall Tory MPs before he was suspended from the party for saying that Islamists had "got control" of Sadiq Khan, the Labour mayor of London.

There are now concerns that other Conservative MPs could defect and join Anderson. In announcing his defection, Anderson said the democratic system was "rigged" and that he wanted "my country back". He said he had made the decision after his parents had told him to appeal to voters in red wall seats.

He said he had received messages of support from Tory MPs. Sunak is preparing to enlist the support of a second former prime minister during the election campaign: Lord Cameron of Chipping Norton, the foreign secretary. Cameron is expected to be deployed widely despite claims that he is unlikely to appeal to voters in red wall seats. "He's a winner and a hugely effective communicator," a senior Tory said. Starmer, the Labour leader, is not expected to call on either Sir Tony Blair or the former prime minister. "Don't expect Boris to appear on stage with
